

Maternity and Women's Health Care Nursing

Outline

In undergraduate and postgraduate education, we are responsible for Maternity and Women's Health Care Nursing. Maternal Nursing focuses on women's health and reproductive health. Our research interests are listed below.

Faculty members

Associate Professor: Miwa Tsuneta, Ph.D.

Senior Assistant Professor: Kimie Endo, MED.

Assistant Professor: Ayumi Shimada, MSN.

Main research in progress

- 1) Postpartum support for mothers
- 2) Reproductive health/rights in developing countries
- 3) Breastfeeding support at the NICU

Current publications

- 1) Endo, K. et al. "A survey of the physical conditions from two to nine months postpartum: First report –Comparing the advanced maternal age group and other groups –." Japanese Journal of Maternal Health 2016, 57 (2), 297–304 (in Japanese).
- 2) Tsuneta, M. et al. "The effects of intervention to learning of a project cycle management(PCM) technique for trainees of JICA maternal and child health(B)-according to analysis of three countries, Morocco, Burkina Faso, Haiti-". Journal of Sapporo University of Health Sciences 2016, 2, 51–62 (in Japanese).
- 3) Shinkawa, K. Tsuneta, M. Sujana. T. "Report on postpartum traditional habits in West Timor of Republic of Indonesia". Journal of Sapporo University of Health Sciences 2017, 3, 87–96.
- 4) Tsuneta, M. et al. "Present Situation and Issues of Nursing Education in French-Speaking African Five Countries-According to Reports of Members of JICA Maternal and Child Health Training-". Journal of Sapporo University of Health Sciences 2014, 1, 65–74 (in Japanese).
- 5) Shimada, A. "Literature review on direct breastfeeding in the NICU". Journal of School of Nursing and Social Services, Health Sciences University of Hokkaido 2016, 12(1), 61-66 (in Japanese).

【 Education Field 】

Maternity and Women's Health Care Nursing

【 Research Field 】

Maternal/ Women's health

Reproductive health/rights in developing countries